A university community advocates for beauty in art, argument, performance, music, literature, ideas, spaces, nature, politics, bodies, and theories.

What does it mean to pursue the expansion, intensification, proliferation, or accumulation of beauty in the world?

How does beauty both enforce convention and encourage radicalism?

She was also a columnist for Punk Planet and a volunteer for Maximumrocknroll. 